

Amherst Walkie Talkie Radio Hire Centre

Proof of ID Requirements For Some Hire Customers

In common with most equipment hire companies, we reserve the right to ask for sight of documents that prove the identity and address of the hirer, before we allow collection of the equipment, or before we send it out to the hirer.

This may not always be necessary, depending on individual circumstances.

If the hirer is an existing customer, then proof of ID will usually will not be needed.

If the prospective hirer is clearly hiring on behalf of a known and/or "checkable" company or other organisation, it will not usually be needed. By this we mean a well-known major business, charity, school or college etc.

Please be aware that our decision on whether we feel happy hiring to a previously unknown customer is final.

Acceptable Forms of ID

An official document that shows the hirer's name and that has a photograph on it.

A driving licence or a passport are the best types.

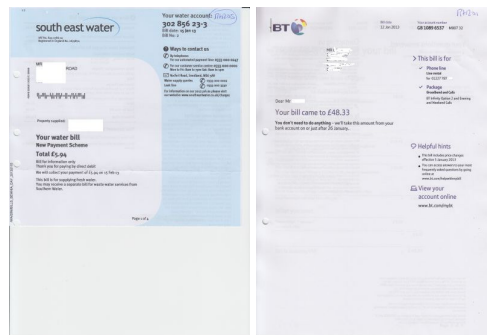

Foreign national ID cards are also usually acceptable.

Proof of address

We would also need to see a recent gas, electricity, telephone or water bill that clearly shows the hirer's name and current home address.

A recent bank or credit card statement can also be used.
